We are also indebted to Derek Pheasant for the following additional information and photos.

"The 1901 census shows Oliver, age 5, living with his family at Claremont House, Bridge Street, Wickham Market which is/was down towards the bridge at the northern end of the village. I've yet to check to see if it is still there. His father John Cordy Keer was a "surgeon", I suspect more a doctor and the census records that he worked from home. The family were wealthy enough to employ a governess and two domestic servants.

I found an entry in a local newspaper, the Suffolk Chronicle and Mercury in March 1916 reporting Oliver's death - see below.

It records him winning the Springfield Cup in 1912 for the Junior Steeplechase whilst at Fram.

Oliver enlisted into the 18th Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers. This was a war service battalion designated the 1st Public Schools Battalion and raised in Epsom on 11th September 1914. It's ranks were filled with public school and university lads. Training continued at Clipstone in Notts before Oliver and the battalion landed in France on 14th November 1915.

The War Diary for the battalion records that it suffered several casualties, including three killed on 17th February 1916 whilst "...a fatigue party carrying up material (to the Front Line) were heavily shelled. One of the three killed was presumably Oliver Keer.

His body was recovered and buried in the church yard in the village of Cambrin which was very close to the Front Line (about 800metres) and some 8 kms to the east of the army town of Bethune. The church was used as a dressing station and it's associated casualties were buried in the adjacent church yard which was extended to eventually contain 1211 war dead.

Oliver is also commemorated on the Wickham Market War Memorial - see next 2 photos."
