

PERRY COLIN TREVERS (G76-81)

After leaving the College he started his career in magazine publishing in the 1980s. Rising quickly through the ranks at Focus Magazines (A division of Maxwell publishing), he was promoted to Publisher of Focus's consumer division at the age of 27, becoming the youngest Magazine publisher in London at that time.

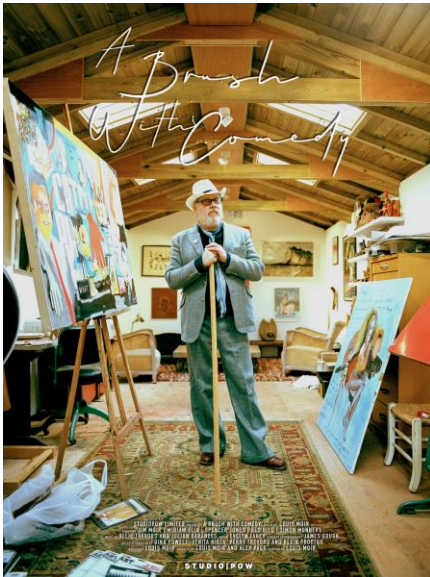

In 1990 he moved to BT Yell joining their senior management development programme. During a 20 year career in what ultimately became Yell Group, he held various roles at Departmental Head level in Marketing and Sales before moving into Change Management. There as a Project Manager he worked on the largest single project the company ever undertook.

He left Yell to set up his own company which eventually became Studio POW a film and Television production company. The studio has produced a number of Films, TV documentaries and Music Videos in recent years.

The Studio credits include the critically acclaimed 'Funny Cow' with Maxine Peake, Paddy Considine and Stephen Graham, 'A Gift From Bob' with Luke Treadaway, and the acclaimed 'Cordelia' with Sir Michael Gambon and Jonny Flynn. Recent films include 'Real Love' with Sian Clifford and Russell Tovey and the hugely anticipated 'Midas Man' with Jacob Fortune Lloyd, Emily Watson, Eddie Marson, Jay Leno and Eddie Izzard; both films are in post-production.

The studio has also produced music videos for Keaton Hensen, Tim Burgess of 'The Charlatans' and most recently recorded live sessions for the up coming Indie band 'The Great Lesley' at Abbey Road Studios.

In 2023 the Studio released two documentaries 'A Brush With Comedy' which appeared on Sky featuring Vic Reeves and the series 'The Never Ending Murder' which was No 1 on Amazon Prime upon its release.

He is married to Maria Evnomia Emily Trevers (Kellett) (P79-81) who also features in Distinguished as a script writer, making them at the moment the only married OFs to both be included. They have two sons who both attended the College. Sam (G2008-10) their eldest son is a screenwriter and Oliver (G2011-13) is the lead singer of 'The Great Leslie' an up and coming Indie band.

The photo at the top shows him on the red carpet at the Dinard Film festival (he's on the left).
